Yes and let's add text below.

I think I found a good spot for it that doesn't take up much space. See my addition here:

BASIS FOR PROPOSED DISAPPROVAL

- Oregon's forestry program has not addressed significant deficiencies over the last 15 years. According to state and federal studies, the problems 1) have caused and continues to cause temperature and sediment impairments and 2) continue to threaten listed coastal coho. Under CZARA, the State has not met the conditions related to additional management measures for forestry necessary to protect water quality and designated use of cold water aquatic life to support salmon. Specifically, the State needs to adopt additional management measures to provide:

I've reconsidered the underline on p. 1. It looks weird/unprofessional anyway.

I do see that is there but it is buried. I liked the way the R10 briefing paper had a strong statement about the impact on fisheries. Was thinking of adding a bullet in background. Feel free to do that if you want – otherwise I'll turn to it now.

Thanks,

That was already in our original language and retained in the latest version. See the 3rd bullet on p. 1 ("State of Play"). Do you want more?

Don,
Thanks very much for putting the extra effort into getting a synthesized version. Based on a phone screen scan, it looks very good. Only thing I might add is R10's language on salmon and cold water aquatic life use.

I will take a final look on desktop screen then we can send to the group.

Lynda,

Okay, I've worked through all the R10 stuff, as well as Steve Sweeney's edits/comments.

In an effort to rein in version control, I came up with the attached document. This brings together Steve Sweeney's edits and comments with your latest version and sprinkles in some R10 input on implications. Frankly, I did not use much of the stuff from R10 since some was redundant with points we made elsewhere and other bits seem to apply to the now Ex. 5 - Deliberative Most of the remaining bits seemed to be option-specific, so I moved them to their appropriate places in the options section.

Also, I was fairly picky on which of Steve Sweeney's edits I accepted, Ex. 5 - Deliberative Ex. 5 - Deliberative etc, and to not add quite the level of detail that Steve prefers. I did accept his edits where I thought they really mattered to the discussion.

Holding my breath to see what Lee Schroer brings us tomorrow...

And I still need to get it into Ken's preferred briefing format.

The revised option looks good enough to include.
That is a lot of text from R10 - can you work it into Implications section, deleting similar text that is redundant. It will still add some length though.

Thanks

...Is this the section that you want to insert into Ken's briefing? Our version is already 7 pages long.
